International Course on Abnormally Invasive Placenta (AIP)

16-17 MARCH 2017
CATANIA - SHERATON HOTEL

Presentation

In the last decades the anomalies of placental invasion (AIP: placenta accreta, increta and percreta) have been object of a rising debate all over the world, because of:

- the progressive increase of incidence
- the high feto-maternal mobility and mortality
- the possibility of a prenatal diagnosis
- the need of a multidisciplinary organization of management

The most important risk factors are a previous cesarean section and placenta previa. For some years clinicians have led a common strategy for the restraint and reduction of cesarean sections rate, because the negative implications of such procedure have become more frequent and there is also a correlation between AIP and the number of previous cesarean deliveries, that is to say the number of scars.

Another aspect emerging in literature is the possibility of a prepartum diagnosis representing the fundamental premise for a correct management and for the reduction of maternal morbility and mortality. In particular, Ultrasound diagnosis has made significant progresses in the last 2-3 years and the utilization of 3D Doppler technique has permitted the exploration of more advanced diagnostic aspects, unknown till few years ago.

In the first trimester of pregnancy, the early evaluation of the relation between implantation site and previous cesarean scar is a "new" concept with which gynecologists should familiarize for a more frequent and culturally correct use in clinical practice. The early diagnosis, or even a very early screening in cases with anamnestic risk, are today interesting aspects of the research. The improvement of diagnosis can justify care pathways expensive and complex and the prompt addressing to reference centres where there is the possibility of ensuring an adequate multidisciplinary care.

This course has the purpose of showing the experience gained in the last years and contributing to a better care for a pathology with high risk for maternal health, thanks to the presence of eminent international and national Experts.

Topics

- Epidemiology and risk factors
- Physiopathology of the uterine healing process
- Screening, diagnosis and management of the Cesarean Scar Pregnancy
- Diagnosis of AIP: Imaging evolution (1st-2nd-3rd trimester)
- Diagnostic integration with Magnetic Resonance Imaging
- Advanced diagnosis of AIP: prediction of complications
- Rationale, technique and outcome of conservative management for AIP
- Cesarean section with hysterectomy
- Triple P Procedure
- One-Step Conservative Surgery
- Role of Interventional Radiology
- Comparison between classification by Imaging and Surgical classification
- Anatomopathological delineation
- Medico-legal aspects
- Videos

International Course on Abnormally Invasive Placenta (AIP)

Program

16 MARCH 2017

Introduction
G. Calì, G. Ettore

1st Session
Chairmen
G. Conoscenti, G. Monni, E. Viora

9,30 Epidemiology and risk factors
G. Ettore

9,50 Physiopathology of uterine healing process
J. Palacios Jaraquemada

10,10 Screening, diagnosis and management of CSP at 6-10 GW Video
I. Timor Thritsh

10,50 Discussion

2nd Session
Chairmen
R. D'Anna, E. Pappalardo, R. Venezia

11,30 Early diagnosis and management of Early AIP (11-22 GW)
F. Prefumo

11,50 Diagnosis in 1st and 2nd trimester (Imaging evolution)
N. Fratelli

12,10 Advanced diagnosis of AIP: prediction of complications
G. Calì

12,30 Discussion

13,00 Lunch

3rd Session
Chairmen
L. Alio, A. Perino, A. Vallone

14,30 Role of MRI: when and how
F. Finazzo

14,50 Ultrasound and MRI comparison: accuracy and diagnostic integration
F. D'Antonio

15,10 Discussion

4th Session
Chairmen
G. Calì, A. Cianci, A. DiLiberto

15,30 Staging of AIP: how?

* Pre-surgical classification
G. Calì

* Surgical classification
J. Palacios Jaraquemada

*Anatomophatological classification
G. Bartoloni

* Correlation between Imaging and histopathology
E. Maresi

17,00 Discussion

18,00 End of the sessions

International Course on Abnormally Invasive Placenta (AIP)

Program

17 MARCH 2017

5th Session

Chairmen
M. R. D'Anna, S. Di Liberto, R. Di Natale

9,00 Anesthesiology techniques
Locoregional anesthesia
G. Fundarò
General anesthesia
S. Borracino

9,30 Interventional Radiology
M. Vallone, V. Magnano

10,00 Neonatal outcome
A. Motta, M. Vitaliti

10,30 Discussion

11,00 Video Session and clinical cases

12,30 Discussion

13,00 Lunch

6th Session

Chairmen
N. Chianchiano, F. Labate, G. Rizzo, P. Scollo

14,00 Rationale, technique and maternal outcome of conservative management for AIP
L. Sentilhes

14,30 Cesarean section and hysterectomy with placenta in situ
G. Calì

14,50 Triple P Procedure
E. Chandraharan

15,10 One-Step Conservative Surgery
J. Palacios Jaraquemada

15,30 Discussion

7th Session

Chairmen
G. Canzone, A. Capodicasa, A. Colombo, O. Triolo

16,00 Organizational and medico-legal aspects
A. Sciarrone

Discussants
G. Bonanno, A. Bucolo, S. Caudullo, V. Iannone, S. Incandela, G. LaFerrera, F. LaMantia, R. La Spina, M. Palmeri

17,30 End of the Course
